

Metal Roofing Solutions

Protecting Your Profits

Downtime isn't even in your vocabulary. You're designing and delivering properties to work 24/7. And while a roof represents only about 10 percent of your project's cost, it's an important part of your project that protects your most critical responsibility, delivering a building that has brand value and a solid ROI. Your clients should always be confident that their roofs will look good and protect their assets and their operations every hour of every day, no matter what Mother Nature throws at them.

Covering Your Asset

A metal roof from Englert is designed and warranted to last for up to 35 years. Once an Englert roof is up, it's there to stay. Properly installed, neither hail nor snow, nor hurricane or fire will affect it. An Englert standing seam roof works 24/7 to protect your investment. When you specify Englert, you are ensuring your customers' comfort and your ROI every day. Time is money to you. Englert's award winning standing seam panels are manufactured and installed on-site by certified contractors so your projects are completed on time or ahead of schedule.

Environmentally Appealing

All Englert ULTRA-Cool standing seam roofs are Energy Star approved and LEED compliant and eligible for sustainability tax credits and incentives. Our standing seam material provides an ideal platform for integrated technologies including solar energy and heating and water harvesting. Years from now an Englert roof will still be delivering energy efficient comfort, adding to your ROI.

Serving Your Interests

An Englert metal roof also delivers you peace of mind. Englert and its certified contractors have been installing quality metal roofs for the largest company-owned and franchisee retailers, hotels and restaurant chains for more than 20 years. Our major accounts staff is ready to offer you a construction and maintenance program for any and all of your properties. At Englert, you'll have one-point accountability on all of your projects and a team of our own architectural representatives and technicians providing local support.

About Englert

For over 40 years, Englert has been one of the preeminent forces in metal building products and has won numerous industry awards for a wide selection of metal roofing projects. Englert is dedicated to offering architects, builders, and home owners innovative solutions that uniquely combine beauty and performance.

The Englert Commitment

We offer you uniform pricing for all of our products. Color, quality and installation are consistent wherever you build. We ensure that only certified contractors trained to install our systems are serving you. We offer national warranties for weather tightness and our coatings. Our engineering department personally inspects each project during construction to make sure each warranted installation is weather tight, insuring your ROI.

Englert is one of the few companies to offer a single source warranty for low slope and steep slope roofing materials.

Finally, we understand the importance of maintaining your brand image. Your customers — and their customers — want a good roof over their heads.

At Englert, we have the experience and reputation to deliver for both.
